

THE UPSETTING OF THE BEANS

THAT the Republican leaders of California, including General Harrison Gray Otis, had in mind the party slogan, "Anything to Beat Wilson," when they framed their unfortunate (?) alliance with the Progressives, is shown by an editorial in last Monday's issue of Otis' paper, Los Angeles Times, bearing the caption of "Guilty As Charged." General Otis says:

Caught with the blood on their hands, Governor Johnson and his man Friday, Chester Rowell, are casting about vainly for alibis. While direct testimony is not lacking, here is the circumstantial evidence of treachery and political assassination:

Governor Johnson, although a Progressive, received from the Republicans of California the nomination for the United States senate. He named personally the chairman and every other member of the Republican state central committee. This committee had full charge of the campaign for Mr. Hughes in California. Chester Rowell received the appointment as a member of the Republican national campaign committee on the representation by hundreds of leading Progressives in the state that this would insure the Progressive vote for Mr. Hughes.

Tens of thousands of dollars were sent to the Republican state committee from the Republican national committee; other tens of thousands were raised by loyal Republicans in California and turned over to the state committee. Governor Johnson, through his satellites, accepted all this money and the governor then made an agreement with labor leaders, who were supporting Wilson, that he would not mention either the president or the Democratic party in his campaign addresses, and that he would put the soft pedal on his Hughes indorsement. In return for this he was promised and received the support of these leaders and their followers for the United States senate.

Through his satellites Governor Johnson bargained for the support of Democratic papers, promising in return not to make any active campaign against President Wilson. Two-thirds of the governor's political associates in the north openly supported Wilson.

While Rowell was assuring the press that the Progressives were united behind Mr. Hughes and that he would receive a majority of not less than 50,000 some of the governor's closest supporters and advisers were secretly wagering that Wilson would carry California. Republicans in Sacramento were warned not to form a Hughes club as it might hurt the governor's chances for election to the senate. They formed a Johnson club instead and elected as chairman an appointee of the governor who was openly campaigning for Wilson.

Members of the payroll brigade have openly boasted that they voted for Wilson because they wanted Johnson to have a chance to run for the presidency in 1920, saying that if Hughes were elected he would be a candidate for a second term. Progressives now admit that they pretended to be for Hughes in order to keep the regulars from voting against Johnson for the senate.

Governor Johnson delivered more than 100 speeches in California; in no printed report is there a single line of criticism of either Wilson or the Democratic administration. The governor's speeches were filled with invectives against those whom he designated as his political enemies, but not one word was uttered about the enemies of the Republican party. Assurances were given in soliciting Democratic support that the governor would not oppose Wilson.

What about the defense? The governor alleges that he couldn't help it; that he could not control his own appointees; yet he controlled every one of them to support his own candidacy. He says that the fault was with the "Old Guard." Yet there was not a single member of the "Old Guard" in the state opposing Hughes. He says the loss of the game must be charged to the regulars. Yet every man on the team was a Progressive; the regulars were all kept on the bench.

The first voice raised in criticism of the attitude of Mr. Hughes while in California was that of Chester Rowell. He accepted a place on the Republican national committee and was the first and only member of that committee to criticize the Republican candidate. Jack Neylan, placed by Governor Johnson in charge of the payroll brigade of the state, gave interviews to the press stating that Hughes was a reactionary and that the Progressives of the state were against him.

The case is clear. Governor Johnson's friends pledged the governor not to oppose President Wilson during Johnson's campaign for the senate. The governor kept this pledge to the letter. Mr. Hughes was knifed by the governor's own followers with his full knowledge. The regulars kept their pledge and supported Governor Johnson. Many former Progressives supported Mr. Hughes, but three-fourths of the state machine campaigned and voted for Wilson. This encompassed the Republican defeat in the state and nation. Guilty as charged!

CRESCENT TUNNEL

(From Oatman Section Daily Miner.)
Driving of the tunnel continues at the Crescent. It is expected that any round of shots may disclose the long sought orebody. The last 50 feet of work has disclosed many quartz stringers.

Manager Peirce has expected to cut the vein for the past week, and is of the opinion that the angle of the vein is greater than at first thought. Samples taken from the stringers cut, as say well.

YALE BOWL SEATING
CAPACITY INCREASED

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Five thousand additional seats are being erected at the Yale bowl, which will bring the total seating capacity up to 76,000 for the Yale-Harvard football game here on November 25. The normal capacity of the arena is nearly 62,000.

More than 8000 new seats were erected two weeks ago, and the latest addition now makes it certain that the classic will be witnessed by the greatest crowd ever assembled at a football game in America.

RAILROADS TO FIGHT ADAMSON
LAW IN COURTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The interrupted conference between representatives of the nation's railways and their 400,000 brotherhood employees, looking toward an adjustment of their newly formulated differences on the interpretation of the Adamson eight-hour law, was not resumed here today. Instead of meeting, the railway manager announced their purpose of fighting the law to the end in the courts, while the brotherhood chiefs who remained in the city left for their homes, professing to believe that they may safely rest their case with President Wilson.

Both sides admitted that they could not foretell the probable outcome of the new controversy. The railroad managers are certain they can establish the unconstitutionality of the Adamson law, while the brotherhood leaders are equally sure that the law will be upheld by the courts and enforced in letter and spirit.

The attitude of the railways was summarized in a statement issued by Elisha L. Lee at the close of an all-day meeting of the railroad representatives. It reads:

"We are all agreed to fight to the end. The means to be employed were fully discussed and the consensus of opinion was that it is necessary to file suits questioning the constitutionality of the law in every federal district court in which the affected railroads operate."

Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, summarized the brotherhood's side of the case just before boarding a train for Cleveland. The other chiefs left for their homes last night and this morning. Mr. Stone said:

"The situation is closed insofar as we are concerned. We are not at all alarmed. We know what President Wilson intended we should have. We know the explanation he made to our 600 chairmen in the White House. We feel confident that if the present law does not give us the eight-hour day, the president will give us a law that will."

"We can't understand the attitude of the railroad managers. They did not file their first suits until the day after election, believing that Mr. Hughes had been elected. Personally, I believe, they are either whistling to keep up their courage or they are trying to scare the public into sympathizing with them."

AWAITING NORTH OF RIVER RETURNS

(From Wednesday's Daily Miner.)
J. W. Prisk came over from Chloride yesterday to see how the vote on sheriff was lining up, but, owing to the failure of the election boards north of the river to report, nothing is known of actual results.

Mr. Prisk says that on the face of the returns J. N. Cohenour has a lead over him of 46 votes, but that north of the river and at Kechan's with better than 120 votes, 90 per cent of which are Democratic, he stands a good show to overcome the lead.

All the other candidates on the Democratic ticket have been elected by safe majorities.

SUNNYSIDE DRIFTING
ON 300-FOOT LEVEL

(From Oatman Section Daily Miner.)
At the Sunnyside the new management has development work well under way. Drifting is in progress on the 300 foot level of the old No. 1 shaft. The site of the new shaft has been decided upon but sinking has not commenced. It will, however, begin within the month. All surface buildings and equipment have been put in shape.

COLE BROS' CIRCUS
HERE NEXT WEEK

Away from the old time methods of presenting tented amusement enterprises, is Cole Bros' World-Toured Show and Trained Animal Exhibition, which will give two performances, afternoon and night at Kingman November 22.

The Cole Bros' World-Toured Show travels in its own two all steel trains. As its title denotes, animal features predominate, but do not by any means form all of the program; high class European novelties and horse, pony, dog and monkey acts are interwoven into the program with such varied effects, that the onlooker is taken from one surprise to another with such wonderful rapidity that he hardly knows what to expect next, and it is in the arranging of the program so as to take advantage of these surprises wherein lies the charm of Cole Bros' performance.

A noticeable feature of the show is its absolute freedom from anything suggestive that mars so many performances; its clean wholesome fun, the real comedy of the clowns, in burlesquing important topics of the day, and grotesque impersonations of people prominent in the limelight, is real humor and greatly appreciated. Twenty funny clowns under the leadership of Happy Billy Reid, the master clown of the day, feature many absurdly comic acts. "The Big Suffragettes Meeting," "A Baseball Number," "Comedy Policemen," "Flying Machine and Automobile Number," "Rube and Old Lady Number," and dozens of other foolish and ludicrous comedy acts by clowns who are eminent in foolery.

The Berne brothers, the strongest men in the world, direct from Europe, first time seen in America, keep the audience spellbound with their many varied feats of strength and wrestling. Professor John Ducander, the world's greatest horse trainer, with his troupe of five educated performing white Arabian horses. Prof. F. J. Rogers, with his troupe of educated dogs and Shetland ponies, will be the delight of the children and interesting to the grownups; 25 of these ponies present drills and difficult military maneuvers with all precision and skill of trained soldiers. This is recognized as the best trained school of ponies seen with any tented organization. Charles Post and his trained trick mules. Herr Diefenbach's trained bears are another European importation. Herr Diefenbach comes highly recommended by the press of Europe and the performance of his huge Siberian grizzly bears range from comedy to sensationalism.

The above are only a few of the many acts interwoven in a program of undisputed excellence.

The one show that is absolutely different from all others and is without doubt the highest class, most progressive and most pleasing tented exhibition that will visit Kingman this season. Free street parade at 10 o'clock a.m. A tremendous exhibition of splendor of scores of open dens, glittering tableaux, savage animals lead in leash, four brass bands, 40 clowns, scores of pretty women. The entire parade enriched by a beautiful display of flashy costumes and trappings, altogether representing an immense fortune.

MIDDLE GOLCONDA MINE
CONTINUES TO SHIP ORE

(From Wednesday's Daily Miner.)
The Middle Golconda continues to ship ore to the smelter with great regularity. It is now in shape to make large monthly shipments, which will soon be augmented when the drift reaches the big vein opened in the level above.

The management has driven cross-cuts and drifts in record time and has opened up more ore in the same space of time than any other property in the district.

CHANGES IN
NEGLECTIBLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Whether the highest vote for a Republican elector in California was greater than the lowest vote for a Democratic elector was about the only question of interest to California politicians tonight. If this should prove to be the case, the state's delegation in the electoral college may be split. The Republicans admittedly unearthed nothing in the course of the day to indicate for or against such a prospect.

Sidney M. Van Wyck, Jr., chairman of the Democratic campaign committee, worked all day bringing in reports from little counties in the mountains where the county clerks had finished their count and also succeeded in getting one or two fair sized counties. His total for twenty counties showed that the total for the lowest Democratic elector in each county added 6,466 votes more than the totals for the highest Republican elector in the same counties. This count would show, when completed, the Wilson electoral vote at its lowest ebb, Mr. Van Wyck said. That is to say, if the lowest Democratic totals are finally ahead of the highest Republican totals a solid delegation in the electoral college is assured. If the highest Republican totals exceed the lowest Democratic totals this will not necessarily indicate that any Republican elector wins because the lowest Democratic and the highest Republican are not the same in all counties.

Republicans and Democrats alike manifested surprise at rumors traceable in all cases to the east, that a considerable error had been found somewhere in the state in counting the votes.

"The mistake, as reported, would have to be in San Francisco, Alameda or Los Angeles county," said Mr. Van Wyck. "It is in none of them, and, so far as we have been able to learn, it does not exist. The final count will show no material change."

Reports from Republican headquarters were similar.

WILSON CONGRATULATED
BY GENERAL CARRANZA

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 14.—General Carranza has sent President Wilson a message of congratulation on his reelection, it was learned tonight. This is to be followed by letters of congratulation from the governors of every Mexican state under Carranza control, it was stated. Official confirmation was not obtainable.

NEW ROAD FINISHED

(From Oatman Section Daily Miner.)
Frank Boyd, proprietor of the Mohave Grill, has finished grading a road on the south side of his place of business. It is a big improvement and serves to greatly shorten the route between the Tom Reed mine and the main part of town. Two approaches have been added to the south end of the sidewalk which were also much needed.

WIND PLAYS HAVOC WITH TENTHOUSES

(From Oatman Section Daily Miner.)
Considerable damage was done in Oatman Monday afternoon and evening by high winds. Small buildings were unroofed and tenthouses torn to shreds. The greatest damage in a single instance was the partial unroofing of the residence of Joe Sheffield in Mohawk addition. The entire roof of two rooms was carried away. It was lifted 100 feet in the air, circled around and finally landed a hundred yards distant in the back yard of the Thomas residence.

The damage done in Mazona was estimated at several hundred dollars. Several tenthouses and small buildings were demolished. At a time when the gale seemed to be in a playful mood, a tenthouse was literally picked up and set down again squarely on the top of another tenthouse. Both were badly demolished. There were several thrilling escapes by occupants of wrecked buildings, but no one was injured.

PROHIBITION VOTE IN STATE OF MISSOURI

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14.—Official returns from all but 14 of the counties of Missouri, compiled by the Post-Dispatch, give the prohibition amendment a majority of more than 14,000 outside of St. Louis.

The heavy adverse vote of St. Louis defeated the amendment in the state, according to returns already in by 111,500.
